

The Prudent Investor

September 1, 2005

Performance Overview

For the month of August the Model Stock Portfolio lost -4.7% versus a loss of -0.9% for the S&P 500 index (including dividends). This represents a loss of -3.8% compared to the S&P 500 index for the month. Table 1 shows the Model Stock Portfolio monthly and annual returns since January 2003. Year-to-date the model is up 9.6% versus the S&P 500 index's total return of 1.9%.

Market Valuation Update

Using the (modified) "Fed Model" to gauge the fair market value of the stock market, we estimate that the market is currently undervalued relative to bonds by 18.7%. This suggests a short-term buy signal for stocks. We would recommend overweighting equities relative to fixed income investments over the next few months. See our website at www.PruInvestor.com (coming soon) for more information on the Fed Model.

Model Stock Portfolio

The Prudent Investor's Model Stock Portfolio for the current month is presented in Table 2. On January 1, 2005 the model was reset to equal to $50,000.

In Table 2 the column entitled "Target Ownership" represents the ideal percentage investment of each asset in the model portfolio. The Actual Ownership column (far right) represents the model's actual ownership from month to month of each stock. The two are not always identical because we take into consideration trading costs when reallocating the portfolio each month. In general, we do not adjust the allocation until the size of adjustment for any given security exceeds 2% of the total portfolio size. The Target Ownership also differs from the Actual Ownership column because we cannot buy fractional shares of a security to meet the Target Ownership percentages.

Starting a Portfolio: If you are just getting started, we recommend that you purchase all the securities in Table 2, using the Target Ownership column to calculate the number of shares needed for each security. If you do not have at least $50,000 available for investment purposes, you may wish to follow one of the Asset Allocation Models presented below and purchase mutual funds instead of individual stocks.

If you have less than $50,000 to invest but would still like to follow our Model Stock Portfolio, consider the following alternative strategy: Purchase the top 10 ranked stocks shown in Table 2 (with approximately 10% of your total invested in each stock) and hold each stock until it falls off of Table 2. Then replace the stock you sell with the highest ranked new stock in the table. This strategy will be more volatile than purchasing all the stocks in Table 2, but investment returns should be similar over time.

¹ Monthly returns for the Model Stock Portfolio for years 2003-2004 represent actual (unleveraged) returns, after all trading costs.

The adjustments to our Model Stock Portfolio this month are shown in Table 2. If you do not have low trading costs (i.e., brokerage commissions), you may wish to forego the incremental adjustments for stocks already in the portfolio. Most of them were made in keeping with our 2% rule where we will buy or sell shares once the “Target Ownership” is greater or less than 2% of the “Actual Ownership.”

If you would like to follow our monthly Model Stock Portfolio, but do not wish to manage your funds yourself, please contact us. We can put you in touch with a registered investment advisor who can manage your investments for you. They will be able to take into consideration your specific tax situation when making buy/sell decisions that are recommended in this newsletter.

Asset Allocation Model

Table 3 below shows The Prudent Investor’s recommended asset allocation for three model portfolios.² These portfolios represent a solid diversified investment strategy for an investor. Suggested mutual funds are listed in the table for you to purchase. However, you may wish to substitute any or all of these funds with other funds of your preference in the same asset class. Most mutual funds within the same asset class (e.g., “Large Cap” class) have very similar returns over longer periods of time.

Note: If you follow the Model Stock Portfolio published in this newsletter each month, you may wish to use one of the Asset Allocation Models below to determine your equity/fixed-income ratio for your overall investment portfolio. Then, instead of purchasing the suggested equity mutual funds given in ² You may wish to adjust the asset allocation of your portfolio on a quarterly basis rather than monthly. In most cases this will have only a small impact on total returns. This newsletter does not take into consideration the potential tax implications of more frequent rebalancing. For retirement accounts, tax consequences from more frequent trading are not a concern.

Table 3, you can merely purchase all the stocks in the Model Stock Portfolio shown in Table 2. This substitution is not a one-to-one match with respect to diversification, but it should be sufficient to give you at least a moderately diversified stock portfolio with attractive upside potential.

Conservative Portfolio:

- Best For: This asset allocation is appropriate for investors who are looking to participate in the stock market but who are risk adverse. Investors nearing retirement age may wish to consider this allocation, as well as those saving for college or for a house purchase within five years.
- Fair Value Allocation: When the stock market is considered to be at “fair value,” the Conservative Portfolio will have a 60%/40% equity/fixed-income split.
- Current Allocation: Based on current market conditions, the suggested equity/fixed-income allocation is 69/31%.

Moderate Portfolio:

- Best For: Appropriate for investors who are willing to take more risk in the stock market in order to seek a higher long-term total return. Investors who are further from retirement will find this portfolio suitable to their needs. It also is recommended for investors who have under $100,000 to invest in stocks and bonds.
- Fair Value Allocation: When the stock market is considered to be at “fair value,” the Moderate Portfolio will have a 75%/25% equity/fixed-income split.
- Current Allocation: Based on current market conditions, the suggested equity/fixed-income allocation is 84/16%.

Aggressive Portfolio:

- Best For: Appropriate for investors who have a high tolerance for enduring market fluctuations and who seek above-average returns over the long term. Investors who are further from retirement will find this portfolio suitable to their needs. Only investors who have in excess of $100,000 to invest, and who are not close to retirement, should consider this asset allocation.
- Fair Value Allocation: When the stock market is considered to be at “fair value,” the Conservative Portfolio will have a 90%/10% equity/fixed-income split.
- Current Allocation: Based on current market conditions, the suggested equity/fixed-income allocation is 109%/0%. (A number greater than 100% for equities means the portfolio will be leveraged.)

International Bonds	FNMIK	Fidelity New Markets Income	8.0%	6.1%	5.0%	3.1%	2.0%	0.0%
Cash (Money Market)	VSGBX	Vanguard Short-Term Federal	2.0%	1.5%	1.3%	0.8%	0.5%	0.0%

Note: We currently have a zero percent weighting for the high yield bonds asset class. For all of 2003 and 2004, high yield bonds enjoyed a substantial (though somewhat volatile) rally. However, the current yield spread between low-grade (credit ratings of BB, B, and CCC) and high-grade (credit ratings of AA and AAA) corporate debt has narrowed to as little as 40 basis points in the latter part of 2004. Declining yield spreads between higher quality corporate bonds versus “junk” bonds suggest investors have little concern currently with the risks inherent in owning such high yield (“junk”) bonds. We believe the 40 basis point spread is too small to justify ownership in lower quality bonds at present.

From the Editor's Desk

In the interest of issuing this Newsletter before Labor Day weekend, there will be no "From the Editor's Desk" discussion this month.

Watch List

We are suspending publication of the Watch List beginning with our July newsletter. We hope to rework the structure of the list and include it in later newsletters if our readers find it of value. Please feel free to register your voice as a "yea" or "nay" as to whether we should include the Watch List in future editions of The Prudent Investor.
